

SUPERINTENDENT CHOSEN BY CITY SCHOOL OFFICIALS

MAURICE STAPLEY OF COLUMBUS, IND., SCHOOLS TO SUCCEED PAUL F. BOSTON

The Board of Education of the Greencastle Consolidated Schools consisting of Vernon Shirley, president; Albert E. Williams, treasurer, and Walter Cox, secretary, wishes to announce the appointment of Maurice E. Stapley of Columbus, Indiana as Superintendent of Schools.

Mr. Stapley has been selected from a field of forty-five applicants for the position. The board has taken a great deal of time to interview most all the applicants and their records of qualifications. Possibly more time has been taken to select Mr. Stapley than any other person who has been chosen for this responsible office.

Mr. Stapley has been chosen upon his record of achievement in the educational field. He is a person who has given all his time to the educational field and to connected social activities of each school that he has served.

The board feels that Greencastle is deserving of the finest man obtainable for the responsible position of superintendent and with this thought in mind accounts for the board taking so much time and paying so much attention to the qualifications of the person selected. Mr. Stapley comes to us with the best of recommendations as a leader in the field of education and an outstanding person in social and community affairs. He has been chosen from the open field and no person and no organization has dictated in any way his selection.

Mr. Stapley comes to Greencastle from Columbus High School, of which he has been principal during the past year. Previously he had been superintendent of schools four years at Corydon, Indiana. His early teaching experience was at Morgan Park Military Academy, Chicago; York Community High School, Elmhurst, Illinois; and Thornton Fractional Township High School, Calumet City, Illinois.

His undergraduate training was done at the Iowa State Teachers College, Cedar Falls, Iowa and at the State University of Iowa, Iowa City, Iowa, from which he received the B. A. degree in 1928. His master's degree was taken at Indiana University in 1938. He has also done additional graduate work at Indiana University and at the University of Chicago.

In civic affairs, while at Corydon, Mr. Stapley was director of the local Chamber of Commerce, president of the Rotary Club, County Executive Chairman for War Bonds and Stamps and County Rationing Administrator.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Stapley came originally from Iowa. They have two children: Keith, 9, and Jeannine, 6. He is 37 years of age.

VICTIMS SOUGHT AFTER GULF COAST HURRICANE

HOUSTON, Tex., July 28.—(UP)—As dawn broke over the storm-wrecked gulf coast area today rescue parties began a search for victims of a tropical hurricane which struck it at Galveston yesterday and swept inland causing damage estimated in the millions of dollars.

Only two deaths were reported at Houston hours after the tropical storm, accompanied by torrential rains, roared into the city at velocities averaging 95 miles an hour and reaching as high as 132 miles an hour. But authorities feared additional victims would be found in many areas cut off from outside contact by the storm.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(UP)—Army Liberator bombers hit Japanese held Wake Island for the second time in four days, foreshadowing a possible early American move to recapture that vital mid-Pacific base.

ON THE FOOD FRONT

Unused red and blue ration stamps are of no further value to the owner after their expiration date; but they are very valuable still in wholesale markets; and owners are warned by the Office of Price Administration not to give them up and so increase the menace of the black market. The Office of Price Administration instructs that all expired stamps be destroyed by the customer and not relinquished to a dealer under any pretext. In addition accept no rationed food without giving ration stamps and never pay more than legal prices. In these ways you on the home front can serve your government and prove yourselves true patriots and real soldiers. The black market can defeat us in the war—we must defeat the black market.

BUT NO PICNIC—This may look like a picnic table out of doors, but war's no picnic, whichever way you look at it. However, these are Yank soldiers at table somewhere in North Africa, feasting from tin cups and plates, while natives watch.

YANKS ADVANCE YARD-BY-YARD ON JAPANESE BASE

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Southwest Pacific, July 28.—(UP)—American jungle troops advanced yard-by-yard today through the strong Japanese defenses around Munda, major enemy base on New Georgia island.

Passing Tetere, coastal village 2-100 yards east of the Munda airstrip, the soldiers and marines attacked the enemy positions which had been pounded with 35 tons of bombs by Allied planes Tuesday.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's spokesman said the enemy defenses, being held to the death by units of the Japanese garrison, consisted of widely dispersed clusters of dugouts, gun pits and pillboxes that must be overcome one by one.

Exact details of the fighting lines were not clear. The American troops had some light tanks in action and were being aided by daily air attacks but reports to headquarters did not anticipate any quick decision. The spokesman said the defenses were tougher than those erected by the Japanese in trying to hold Buna, on the north New Guinea coast, last January.

In New Guinea, a new bombing record was set for the second straight day when Liberators and Mitchells, in seven attacks, dropped 123 tons of explosives in 40 minutes on villages in the Salamaua area, touching off big fires and scoring direct hits on gun positions, a bridge, enemy barracks and a wireless station.

Dense smoke obscured the targets even before the planes cleared out and big explosions occurred at several points. Northeast of Mt. Tambu, where American and Australian ground troops were fighting toward Komiatum, on the trail toward Salamaua, sharp patrol clashes continued.

Other planes raided Lae, enemy base farther up on the northeast New Guinea coast, hitting at barge concentrations and supply dump areas. Beaupre's set afire two small enemy supply vessels in Jacquot bay in the New Britain area while in the Solomons Flying Fortresses and Catalinas bombed barges near the Buin area of Bougainville island.

Enemy planes made light and ineffectual raids on newly-occupied Woodlark island and on the Nassau bay area of New Guinea.

Mercury Hits 98 On Tuesday

With the temperature soaring to 98 degrees at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, Greencastle and Putnam county residents sweltered in the latest heat wave of the summer. Tuesday night was probably the most uncomfortable of the season. A threat of rain that failed to develop here between 9 and 10 p. m. added to the humidity.

Indications were Wednesday morning that the mercury would go as high or higher than Tuesday as The Banner thermometer registered 87 degrees at 9 a. m.

Little relief was in immediate prospect this morning as weather predictions forecast continued warm with possible scattered showers.

HAMBURG ROCKS UNDER 6TH RAID IN THREE DAYS

LONDON, July 28.—(UP)—A mighty armada of British bombers, hundreds strong, pushed the greatest aerial offensive of all time through its fourth night last night with the sixth raid in a little more than 72 hours on flaming, smoking Hamburg, Germany's bomb-devastated first port and second city.

An "authoritative" statement said that the raid was made in "very great strength," a hint that the bomb tonnage may have approached the record 2,300 tons of explosives dropped on Hamburg in the first of the current series of Anglo-American attacks Saturday night.

The assault probably boosted the tonnage of bombs unloaded over axis Europe by British and American planes during the last four days and nights above the 9,000-mark, including 8,000 tons on Germany alone.

Hamburg now has been subjected to the most concentrated and relentless bombing ever given a German city in so short a time. On the basis of British experience in raids on their own cities, it was reasonable to assume that large portions of the city were without water, gas or electricity.

Railroad, street car and bus transportation probably has been paralyzed and tens of thousands made homeless.

Huge fires that turned the pall of smoke over the city into a rosy hue guided Britain's big four-engined Lancasters, Stirlings and Halifaxes back to Hamburg last night and illuminated the city for the latest attack.

High explosive bombs, ranging up to four-ton super block busters capable of blowing an office building to bits, and tens of thousands of incendiary bombs were dropped on the burning city, stoking the fires and spreading new conflagrations.

The offensive presumably was designed to destroy Germany's largest submarine-construction center and one of her biggest industrial cities, and also possibly to test an RAF theory that an entire city can be wiped out by bombing.

The Germans tried to wipe out London in 1940 by dropping 7,500 tons of bombs in 90 days and 90 nights of almost continuous raids, but failed. Hamburg now has been raided 104 times with bomb tonnage probably exceeding 12,000 tons.

Significantly, it was at Hamburg that German U-boat crews first mutinied during World War I to mark the beginning of the end of German resistance in that war.

Last night's attacks followed a raid by British Mitchell medium bombers, with a fighter escort, on the German-held Schiphol airfield in Holland, during which four intercepting enemy aircraft were shot down without loss to themselves.

American medium bombers joined in yesterday's offensive with a raid on an enemy airfield at Triqueville in northern France, where "good results" were reported. Other American medium bombers and Thunderbolt fighters participated in supporting sweeps over north and northwest France.

Altogether allied planes shot down 16 enemy planes in daylight yesterday against a loss of only two fighters.

THOMAS H. YOUNG DIED EARLY TODAY AT ROACHDALE

Thomas Henry Young, a prominent farmer, passed away at 10:20 Wednesday morning at his home near Roachdale. Mr. Young had been in ill health for the last two years and seriously ill for the last five months. His death was due to a complication of diseases.

He was born April 17, 1877, near Whitesville, the son of Thomas D. and Alice Brown Young. On March 5, 1902 he was married to Bessie Clay Hartman, near Fincastle. His entire married life was spent on the farm where he passed away.

Mr. Young, a Spanish American War Veteran, was a member of the Earl Fisk Auxiliary and the Presbyterian church at Roachdale.

Survivors are the widow, two sons, Lanville Young of Kokomo and Glen Robert Young of Houston, Tex., two daughters, Mrs. Olive Mutterstaugh and Mrs. Mary Gladys Robbins, both of Indianapolis, two granddaughters and three brothers.

Friends may call at the Young home after 2:00 p. m. Thursday and until noon Saturday. Funeral services will be held from the Chastain Funeral Home at 2:00 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Burial will be in the Roachdale cemetery.

Cadet Receives General's Star

Cadet Nicholas Sarpa of the De Pauw University naval flight preparatory school may still have a year's work ahead of him for his navy wangs and commission but he has a general's star now.

In an Indianapolis railroad station over the past weekend, Cadet Sarpa saw a train loaded with Italian and German prisoners arrive and ventured to speak to the Italians in their native tongue.

The Italian officers, mistaking Sarpa for an officer in his dress uniform gathered about him asking their destination and questioning him about his ability to speak Italian. Cadet Sarpa's father, for many years an American citizen, came to this country from Rome 35 years ago.

An Italian general in the group told Sarpa that his men were extremely happy to be in America and praised American hospitality in the treatment of his fellow soldiers.

When the train was ready to continue its journey the general, a tall man, past middle age, apparently overjoyed at having found an American with whom he could speak in his native tongue, removed from his lapel the gold star of his rank, kissed it, and saying "Forever lost," gave it to Cadet Sarpa.

Milan Scene Of Fatal Outbreaks

LONDON, July 28.—(UP)—Four Fascists have been killed and 25 wounded, three severely, in riots in Milan, Swiss advices said today, and reports multiplied that preliminary discussions looking toward a separate peace for Italy have begun at Vatican City.

Despite the flood of rumors pouring out of European capitals, however, there still was no authoritative word of what actually was occurring inside Italy, or of what has happened to the deposed premier, Benito Mussolini.

The latest unconfirmed report regarding Mussolini's whereabouts came from Madrid, where a neutral diplomat told the United Press that the former duce and other prominent Fascists had been arrested and taken under strong military guard to Villa Conti, in Rome, where they were being held incommunicado.

London sources were inclined to believe that Marshal Pietro Badoglio, the new Italian chief of government, has placed his predecessor in protective custody, probably to use him as a pawn in talking peace terms with the allies, who want to try Mussolini as a "war criminal."

The same Madrid source said that Mussolini's son-in-law, Count Galeazzo Ciano, former Italian foreign minister, and the latter's wife, Edda, had escaped to the safety of the Vatican, where Ciano is Italian ambassador. Mussolini's wife and younger children were said to be confined to his private residence, Villa Torlonia, under heavy guard.

Nazis Withdraw In Orel Salient

MOSCOW, July 28.—(UP)—The Germans have begun large-scale withdrawals below Orel, the army organ Red Star said today as the battle for that south-central front bastion neared a climax.

With the red army athwart a section of the vital Orel-Bryansk railroad and with the highway running southwest from Orel under Soviet fire, the Germans were reported fighting a desperate rear-guard delaying action to cover the retreat of large forces south of the city to avoid encirclement.

The enemy forces systematically burned whole villages to the ground, blew up bridges and roads and abducted civilians as they fell back, Red Star said.

Front reports of the German withdrawal followed an announcement in the Russian communique that the enemy was being forced to abandon position after position under increasing Soviet blows.

In two days of fighting, one unit south of Orel was credited with killing 1,000 Germans and smashing 26 enemy tanks.

BELIEF GROWS THAT ITALY MAY QUIT VERY SOON

END MAY COME AS SUDDENLY
AS MUSSOLINI'S RESIGNATION

LONDON, July 28 (UP)—Opinion rapidly is hardening among London observers—despite official caution against over-optimism—that Italy soon will be out of the war except for a facade of fighting which must continue during dithering over peace terms.

The feeling also is growing that the end of hostilities may come as suddenly as did the ouster of Benito Mussolini. The next eight or 10 days probably will tell the story. The time may depend upon operations in Sicily, especially at Catania where the Germans are concentrated.

On the other hand, it is obvious that each day of delay reduces the value of any offer the King of Italy or Premier Pietro Badoglio can make to the Allies. The new Italian regime has two things it can offer: Time and economy of effort.

Quick Italian capitulation would offer the Allies certain advantages. It would enable them to reach the Po River weeks or even months earlier than if they had to fight their way north. The Po Valley is the industrial heart of Italy and has good air bases for bombing Germany.

It would save the Allies thousands of casualties and vast quantities of war materials. It would enable the Allies to set their time table ahead, possibly by two months, by releasing much shipping and many airplanes and troops for attacks elsewhere in Europe.

Additionally, if the Italian regime is stable, it would permit entry into Italy just as Allied forces entered North Africa.

Swedish dispatches said German troops and construction battalions of the Todt organization were streaming southward through the Brenner pass into Northern Italy to establish and man a fortified line along the Rive Po. Some crack German forces were said to have been rushed to Northern Italy from Russia by air.

German strategy, regardless of whether Italy surrenders, was said to envision abandonment of southern Italy and a strong stand on the River Po line.

Radio Algiers broadcast an appeal to the Italian people from Allied headquarters in North Africa to sabotage the two coastal Italian railways, which it said are the only routes over which German troops can escape northward after evacuating Sicily.

OWI BROADCAST BLUNDER CRITICIZED BY PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(UP)—Investigation of the Office of War Information's Italian broadcast "blunder" was expected today to result in a shake-up to synchronize the propaganda unit more closely with the State Department.

President Roosevelt sharply denounced OWI at his press conference yesterday for broadcasting statements that characterized King Victor Emmanuel of Italy as "the little moronic king," and said that both the King and Marshal Pietro Badoglio were Fascists.

The President said the broadcasts should never have been made; that they did not have authorization of the White House, the State Department or Robert E. Sherwood, head of OWI's overseas branch.

Americans Bomb Wake Island Again

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(UP)—American bombing of Wake Island suggested today that the United States may seek soon to recapture that central Pacific base.

Wake's seizure would imperil Japanese bases in the Marshall Islands, less than 700 miles to the southeast, and would advance American lines nearly 1,000 miles closer to Japan and the Philippine Islands.

Such a move would depend on the results of the present campaign in the Central Solomons, and be affected by future American plans concerning Kiska, the last remaining Japanese base in the Aleutians. If American operations in the Solomons and in the Aleutians will have the effect of containing large Japanese naval forces, a drive on Wake might be strategically sound, experts said.

Wake Island, wrested from the United States in the first few weeks of the Pacific war, is 1,190 statute miles southwest of Midway. The Japanese have heavily fortified and garrisoned the island.

The force of American Liberator bombers which attacked the island last Saturday had to fight their way through powerful enemy air defenses. Even before they reached the island, they were confronted by an intercepting force of 30 Zero fighters, of which nine were shot down and nine others hit. When they reached the target, they ran into more planes and a heavy curtain of anti-aircraft fire.

The Japanese have built reinforced concrete gun positions on Wake Island and have many of their installations under ground. Recapture would require a powerful amphibious force, supported by heavy air and naval units.

American naval experts long have been confident that Wake could be retaken but until recently such a move was regarded as of doubtful strategy because of its proximity to the Japanese bases in the Marshalls. Now, however, with the tremendous increase in American air strength, the experts feel that the island could be held and used despite the proximity of the enemy.

Strict Demands Confront Italy

WASHINGTON, July 27 (UP)—The Allies will reject any Italian proposal of peace which would enable Italy to retire quietly into neutrality, authoritative sources said today.

There were reasons to believe that Allied powers have designated Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as the individual with whom Italy must deal and that his terms will be a flat demand for unconditional surrender. Thus, reports from Europe of a possible peace move through Switzerland or another neutral power were not given great attention here.

Except for the Casablanca decision to wage war until the Axis surrenders unconditionally, officials do not wish to complicate the work of peace and reconstruction by advance dealings with factions of individuals who might be seeking simply to win a favored position for themselves.

A diplomat who is in a position to know what is happening in neutral capitals believes that Italy's capitulation will come militarily rather than through diplomatic channels. This same source said it was not unlikely that Benito Mussolini's downfall might be followed by similar developments in Spain, with Generalissimo Francisco Franco giving way to a monarchist movement.

The unconditional surrender theme was reiterated yesterday by President Roosevelt when he told a press conference that he thought Secretary of State Cordell Hull had covered that situation adequately. Hull had said he had heard no intimation of any plans to relax the unconditional surrender policy.

(Mr. Roosevelt is expected to discuss the Italian situation more thoroughly in his radio address tonight, 9:30 p. m.)

Mr. Roosevelt said he did not believe it would be useful for him to go into hypothetical questions, such as a discussion of whether Italians would be told to hand over Mussolini to the United Nations for punishment.

The President then denounced an Office of War Information broadcast which described King Victor Emmanuel as "Moronie." The broadcast was not authorized and ought never to have been made, he said.

Mr. Roosevelt's regret over the OWI broadcast was connected by some observers with Prime Minister Winston Churchill's warning against any actions which might encourage chaos and anarchy in Italy. One of the factors in post-war planning is the determination to find elements or institutions which might provide rallying points for defeated, demoralized nations.

In the case of Italy such a rallying point might be the house of Savoy and it was understood that this administration wished to preserve at least for the time being the dignity of the throne.

In the case of Japan, where the throne is held in much greater reverence than in Italy, this government is exercising meticulous care not to ridicule the emperor.

...or how Americans make friends in New Zealand

"You're a dinkum cobber," says the New Zealander when he wants to call you pal. The American soldier says it another way. Have a "Coke", says he, and in three words he has made a friend. ALLIES ADVANCE

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS North Africa, July 28. (UP)—American and Canadian troops have advanced the main allied offensive line 15 miles eastward in Sicily, front reports said today.

The Canadians, the reports said, were driving forward against bitter opposition, trying to pierce the center of the German defenses.

Official announcements said the Americans had occupied Cefalu, north coast harbor 35 miles east of Palermo, and with other troops from the center, had taken Petralia, Polizzo Generosa, and Alimena.

A Little of...

This and That

(By Jim Zeis)

Italy is apparently on its way out insofar as the war is concerned. It wouldn't surprise us if the Italian government threw in both the sponge and the towel by this weekend.

Fred Pease said he saw the following statement in another Indiana paper: "To avoid that run down feeling a pedestrian should be careful where he crosses the street."

From all reports the American Legion Post did quite well on the opening night of the carnival. The Legionnaires get a per cent of the "take" as they are sponsoring the event.

August is the month of the famous Quincy picnic.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars are planning to install a flag pole, which will extend above and over the sidewalk, at their rooms on the west side of the square.

Farmers from all sections of the country tell us that they need rain badly. Gardens are in a bad way in some localities.

Leo Conrad had his shirt pocket full of cigars this morning and he didn't even offer us one.

We saw a truck with both front tires missing. The driver was evidently headed for a local garage, running on the rims.

When it was down around zero last winter we were wishing for hot weather, and believe you me, we sure got it!

If next week's presentation by the Summer Theater group is any ways as near as good as the play given several weeks ago, the audience has some splendid entertainment in store.

County clerk Omer Akers informed us this morning that by tomorrow he will have finished sending out approximately 2,500 voters' applications for reinstatement of registration. "It has been some job," declared the Putnam official.

Rex Crask yelled at us today to "keep an eye on Pittsburgh." Rex has been picking the Pirates to win the National league pennant for years.

As a matter of local interest, Howard A. DuPuis, brother of Mrs. John Cockley, east Walnut street, appears in the March of Time film "Show Business At War" showing at the Voncest tonight and Thursday. He is now overseas with the Marine Aviation Corps. Another sister, Jane DuPuis, graduated from the Greencastle high school in 1942.

IN MEMORY

In loving memory of our dear wife and mother who left us one year ago today.

Sadly missed by husband, children and grandchildren.

Phillip Hutcheson, Jr. and children.

President Gene Harlan, through the absence of the adult leader, Eugene Akers, took charge of the meeting. The forty-seven members were divided into several different groups of which the junior leaders are to take charge and help with any difficulties the members have with the raising of their projects or conditioning for the fair.

The president called attention to the fact that he had information available concerning this year's State Fair for the members planning to exhibit.

The meeting was adjourned until August 6, unless a special meeting had to be called.

TO REVOKE LICENSES

INDIANAPOLIS, July 28. (UP)—Neil D. McCallum, member of the Alcoholic Beverages Commission, pledges that the licenses of tavern keepers who sell intoxicating liquors to minors will be revoked.

The commissioners made the pledge yesterday before the convention of Indiana prosecuting attorneys.

Prosecuting attorneys charged previously that the ABC had been too lax in meting out penalties to tavern keepers found guilty of selling liquor to minors. They said the sale to teen-age boys and girls constituted one of the principal reasons for juvenile delinquency.

Deputy State Attorney General Frank E. Coughlin said he would back McCallum's pledge.

"In the future," Coughlin said, "when a tavern keeper or liquor

Dona Lou Gorham and Janet Kay Allee, both of Greencastle, underwent minor surgery at the county hospital and returned to their homes Wednesday.

Three Doughboys Die In Desert

CAMP YOUNG, Calif.—(UP)—

Three soldiers were dead today and a fourth was sought, missing from a company that became lost in the blazing heat of the barren Chocolate mountain country.

Officers at this desert training company said the four, along with 35 others who were rescued, lost contact with other units on maneuvers in the parched, waterless mountains.

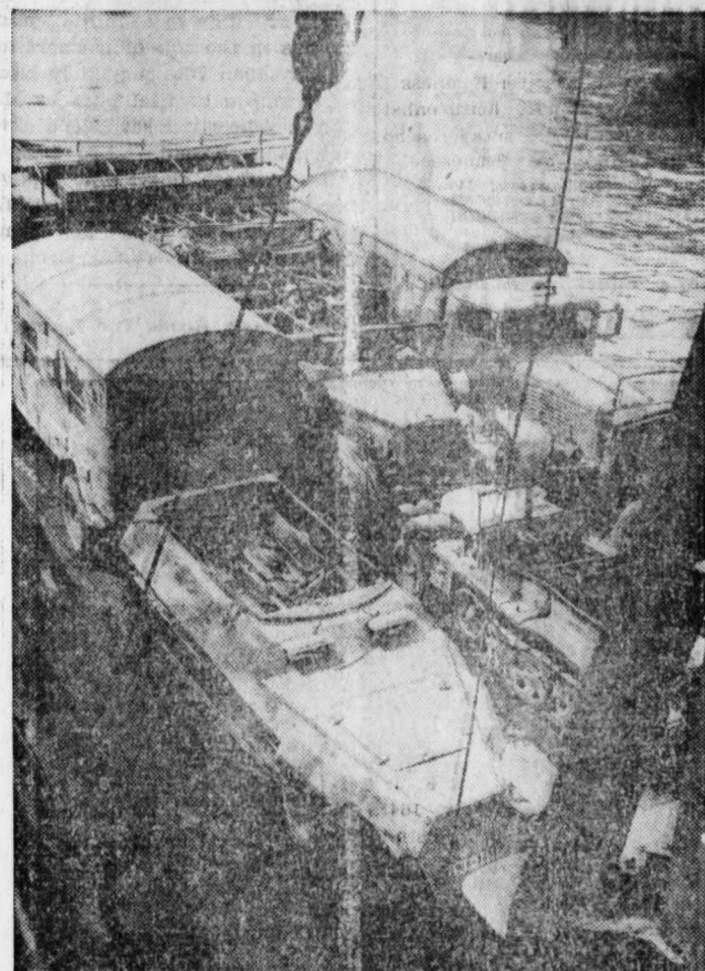

The infantrymen were on a six-day endurance test under the command of a First Lieutenant, it was learned. The platoon presumably ran out of water Saturday, and the officer left to obtain a fresh supply.

When he returned, four men had wandered off from the rest of the group.

Sheriff T. H. Newman of Yuma, Arizona, said some soldiers flagged down a Southern Pacific train passing through the area. The train picked up six who were unconscious and took them to Yuma.

El Centro, 30 miles west of the mountains, had a temperature of 124 Sunday, a new all-time high, and it was estimated that midday temperatures in the desert were from 10 to 15 degrees higher.

VALUED AT $1,000,000—More than $1,000,000 worth of war material unloaded at east coast port after it was captured from Axis and brought to U. S. for study by experts. Note two covered desert machine shops in camouflage dress, at rear.

TAKE IT DOWN—No more use for hated swastika emblem of Nazis at Fascist headquarters in Gela, Sicily, after occupation by American forces. Yank soldiers take it down. Note loudspeaker which formerly blared orders to townsfolk.

Voncastle

A modern comedy-drama with music and boasting a cast of well-known screen players, Universal's "All By Myself" comes Wednesday and Thursday to the Voncastle Theatre. Rosemary Lane, Patric Knowles and Evelyn Ankers are co-starred.

Said to be hilariously diverting in theme and dealing with madcap romantic mix-ups, the new production features Neil Hamilton, Grant Mitchell and Louise Beavers in outstanding roles. Special musical numbers are offered by the Lounell Morgan Trio and Tip, Tap and Toe, dancing actables.

Plot of the gay movie places Knowles in the role of a smart society physician who is politely blackmailed into a marital pact by Miss Ankers. The latter portrays a clever advertising woman. Miss Lane is seen as a torch singer who captures Hamilton, Miss Ankers' particular romantic interest and her senior partner in the advertising firm.

TEMPERATURE CHANGES

DAMAGE ROAD SURFACE

Sudden changes in temperature causing contraction and expansion of pavement on the state highway system, have added approximately five thousand dollars to normal maintenance costs in the past seven weeks, S. C. Hadden, chairman of the State Highway Commission, reported today.

A total of 171 of these pavement breaks or 'blowups' have been reported from the six state highway districts since June 4, with more than one-half of them occurring during the first three weeks of July. Most of the blowups have taken place on state highways in the central and northern parts of the state.

Maintenance engineers estimate that each of these pavement breaks resulting from temperature changes, costs a minimum of $25 in labor and materials. In some cases extensive repairs are required before the surface is again ready for traffic.

INSECT DAMAGE LESS THAN WAS EXPECTED

While many Victory gardens have suffered some damage from insects this year the loss has been much less than had been predicted earlier. Frank N. Wallace, state entomologist, said today. Many experienced gardeners have reported that damage to their plants by insects was less this year than for several years.

There have been as many inquiries at the Division of Entomology office as in the past, regarding the identification of various insects which have been found in the gardens but most of these came from persons accustomed to growing vegetables and protecting their plants by spraying and dusting.

Earlier this year predictions had been made that insects damage to gardens would be unusually severe and that efforts of amateur gardeners would be wasted in their efforts to produce vegetables for their own use. To date no general condition of this nature has been reported.

KEEPING 'EM ROLLING

Buscs are made of the same basic materials that today are going into the manufacture or maintenance of ships, shells, planes, tanks, trucks and other implements of war. Naturally, war needs come first, and there will be very little new equipment for the duration. Because transportation is so essential, bus companies have been urged by ODT to preserve and protect their present equipment. In times past, it would be quicker, and cheaper, to replace worn, or broken, parts with new ones. Not so today. Mechanics in our modern motor department often have to apply their own ingenuity in turning out repair parts, and rehabilitating others, to fulfill our pledge to "keep 'em rolling."
